

DURHAM REGION PLANS TO BURN GARBAGE IN AN INCINERATOR

“Modern” incinerators emit harmful pollutants into the air, land and water. Many of those are known to cause birth defects, neurological and cognitive impairments and cancer in children.

MOST AT RISK

Many pollutants are actively transported across the placenta and are stored in the nervous system and the brain of the unborn baby. The fetus, breast-fed infants, and young children are the most at risk.

Babies shouldn't be born polluted

Durham Region already has a high rate of asthma. Durham politicians plan to add even more air pollution by burning garbage for the next 25 to 35 years.
